] Is the Mini Cab skid plate from Jackson's still available. I have a problem with the plastic holding the left edge of the gas tank in the Taurus Pinto. If I remove the rear bumper, the plastic pops off and the gas tank slides out. It's been a number of years since I've driven one, but didn't the Mini cab just use the gas tank as a bumper? 05-15-2010, 12:58 PM misterloser Quote: Originally Posted by benshoot4 no that was the original ironhead design....marrs made their own kits for the mini-cabs and they were different from those 05-15-2010, 12:59 PM benshoot4 Originally Posted by misterloser Thanks, I figured as much. They changed the design to have a 1 piece bumper. 05-15-2010, 01:06 PM Angles I wonder if it's possible to take the left front wheel well off of the mini cab and using it for a "bump" to hold the gas tank in place. This would eliminate the need for the plastic that pops off and releases the gas tank. 05-15-2010, 01:14 PM
